Good Faith Estimate of Costs

A new consumer protection law called “The No Surprises Act” went into effect on January 1, 2022. Here’s the notice I have to give you about the law:

You have the right to receive a “Good Faith Estimate” explaining how much your medical and mental health care will cost.

Under the law, healthcare providers need to give patients who don’t have insurance or who are not using insurance an estimate of the expected charges for medical services, including psychotherapy.

You have the right to receive a Good Faith Estimate for the total expected cost of any non-emergency health care services, including psychotherapy.

You can ask your healthcare provider, and any other provider you choose for a Good Faith Estimate before scheduling an appointment.

If you receive a bill that is at least $400 or more than your Good Faith Estimate, you can dispute the bill. Make sure to save a copy or picture of your Good Faith Estimate.

For questions or more information about your right to a Good Faith Estimate, visit cms.gov/nosurprises.
